

Writing Center

Spring 2019

Brainstorming and Outlining

Wednesday, April 3rd from 3:00 – 4:30 pm. (Bridgette Vera)

Location: 808A

This workshop will not only provide you with the tools to get started on any writing assignment but will also provide an opportunity to apply those tools and use them on your writing assignment(s). Bring a writing assignment to work on from any class. Appropriate for all students.

ICE ICE Baby: How to Strengthen Body Paragraphs Using ICE

Wednesday, April 10th from 3:00 – 4:30 p.m. (Ryan Shiroma)

Location: 808A

Do you want a catchy, easy method to improve your body paragraphs? Have teachers ever told you to “add more detail,” “add more analysis,” or “expand” your ideas? If so, this workshop is for you. All participants will leave with tools to help them write stronger paragraphs and essays. Appropriate for all students.

In Class Essay Writing

Tuesday, April 23rd from 9:30 – 11:00 a.m. (Arthur Hui)

Location: 808A

What are some strategies for managing time, generating ideas, and organizing and completing an in-class essay? What are some ways to cope with anxiety while applying sound writing process in a timed situation? Appropriate for all students.

Integrating and Explaining Quotes

Thursday, April 25th from 11:00 a.m. – 12:30 p.m. (Doug Eisner)

Location: 808A

So much of academic writing is a dance between what you say and what they say. How do you gracefully blend these two points of view while giving accurate credit to the source? How can you smoothly introduce a quote, correctly document the source, and share your own thoughts? These are some of the head scratchers we tackle in this workshop. Also, the strategies shared will be especially helpful to students struggling to meet length requirements. Most appropriate for English 99 and above, ESL 186, ESL 190, and all courses requiring MLA documentation.

Practical Strategies to Organize Essays

Wednesday, May 1st from 2:00 – 3:30 p.m. (Kim Vandervort)

Location: 808A

Do you have ideas, but don't know how to put them into writing? Do you struggle with staying on topic or repeating points? In this workshop, we will discuss organization strategies for every phase of the writing process, from generating a working essay plan to revising existing drafts to improve the “flow” of ideas.
