

Writing Center Fall 2021

Developing Effective Thesis Statements

Thursday, September 2nd from 12:00 – 1:00 p.m. (Heather Richards)

To register, log in to ASC Online Tutoring at asc.fullcoll.edu

Why do you need a thesis statement? This workshop will cover the appropriate placement of a thesis statement and also discuss the elements of a strong thesis. Students will also learn how to flesh out the introductory paragraph and develop solid topic sentences and appropriate supporting evidence.

Understanding the Prompt

Tuesday, September 7th from 11:00 a.m. – 12:00 p.m. (Mindy Guilford)

To register, log in to ASC Online Tutoring at asc.fullcoll.edu

Did you know that understanding the prompt is one of the most important parts of writing an essay? Your instructor gives you a specific question, context, and guidelines, so you can think of understanding the prompt kind of like using GPS. It tells you where to go. Learn how to make sure you are on the right track before you begin the writing process.

Using a Visual Map for Essay Completeness

Wednesday, September 8th from 3:00 p.m. – 4:00 p.m. (Katie King)

To register, log in to ASC Online Tutoring at asc.fullcoll.edu

Do you struggle with essay structure and idea organization? Do you feel like your essays lack completion? Then, this workshop is for you! Students will learn not only essay structure, but how to better articulate their ideas in academic writing.

Reading Strategies for all Disciplines

Thursday, September 9th from 1:00 – 2:00 p.m. (Angela Henderson)

To register, log in to ASC Online Tutoring at asc.fullcoll.edu

This workshop will show you how to use active reading strategies to retain information while you read and increase your comprehension. During the workshop, students will also learn how to use the Canvas annotation tools to highlight and make annotations to a text.
